SETTLED AN OLD GRUDGE.

Who Wouldn't Relent. After Jack Doyle had retired in favor of O'Brien in Washington recently he went up to the coaching line and began to guy Reilley. The latter appealed to Emslie, who ordered Jack to stop. The two exchanged some words, which fun Emslie stopped by peremptorily ordering Jack off the field for an alleged personal remark.

Jack gracefully slid around the stand, where he was confronted by a park policeman, who volunteered to escort him only the customary ten-day notice just to the gate. Doyle wanted to take a seat under the stand, but the guardian take the places of those who are to get said no. There was some talk, during the conge. which the felow blurted out that he had an old grudge against Jack, who, he claimed while a Giant, once threw a ball at him. Doyle did not want to go out, and tried to jolly the man with a grudge, who persisted, and finally Since corted him through the gate. Doyle got a cab and went back to the hotel. Success of the Reds. The league race is still hard to guess. Boston and Baltimore are home now and can be expected to win numerous games. The Cincinnatis are not out of players every privilege and every bit the race altogether, so a western writer thinks. He reasons it out this way: They meet Cleveland next and should succeed in taking two out of three games, if not the series straight. Pittsburg comes next, and the Pirates are not playing as good as they ought. Then come the western clubs, St. Louis, Louisville, Chicago. The Reds will win the majority of these games.

But from what is told me the success of the side bars sufficiently far to spread them enough in the middle to draw the team as at present constituted was imcenter blocks up to pitch again, so possible and if I were the owner I says an authority. This will make an should do just as has been done. The old chain run with a semblance of acclub is not so low in the race as to curacy for at least a short period of Populars to a game on the Moosic preclude the probability of a better time, but the method fails as a satisrelative position in the next two factory measure in that it is impossible to shorten a chain in this way with any degree of accuracy.

Pat Watson Wins Three Straight Heats, but Is Closely Pushed in the First Two by Crescius -- Favorites Win in All the Other Ruces.

Columbus, O., Aug. 5.-Four races and three heats of a fifth were run off at the Columbus driving park today. Favorites won in all the races except one, the 2.20 trot and in that the betters were badly dumped. There were seventeen starters in the 2.20 trot and Luxon had been picked to win. The gelding was never in it, however, as he could not finish better than eleventh in any heat. Pat Watson won in straight heats but was closely pushed in the first two by Crescius. Summaries:

is Lagging in the East but Is Alive in the West.

Interest in swimming seems to have fallen off in the East. In Chiccago, however, it is booming. While easy terms. Dr. Paul Neumann, of the C. A. A. is considering the plan of visiting England in September to arrange a match with J. Jarvis for the long dis tance swimming championship of the world, he may conclude to accept the acceptance of George Whittaker, of Milwaukee, for a contest.

Recently the statement was given to the press by Whittaker that during a visit to Milwaukee by Dr. Neumann, he (Whittaker), had defeated the C. A. A. crackajack in a friendly race. This excited P. D. Rowland, swimming instructor of the C. A. A., to follow the denial of Neumann by the offer to bet $1,000 that Neumann could defeat Whittaker in a match race. To this cha. eage Whittaker named his own favorite distance, and re plied: "If Neumann wants a match h knows where to find me. I have met him in a 440-yard race before and have beaten him easily. If he thinks he can beat me now, I'll give him another chance.'

Hand Ball Challenge.
